Polish Anarchists Organized to Commit Murder

MEN LEAGUED TO KILL ENEMIES

four of Them Slay an Enemy-Two of the Assassins Shot Down-The Other Commits Suicide.

BERLIN, April 8.-A remarkable story comes from Koscieleg, a village near Inowraniam, a town of Prussia, prov-ince of Posen. Dr. Poninsky, a high Polish ecclesiastic, who was traveling through Koscieleg, was waylaid by four men, who were, apparently, waiting for him, and before he could make a single attempt to either defend himself or escape, all four of them fired at him with re-volvers. The doctor's body was rid-dled with bullets and he died almost instantly.

A number of villagers pursued the assassins, who had taken to flight, and finally brought them to bay. assassins made a desperate fight against arrest. Some of the villagers were armed, and after they had been repeatedly fired upon. they returned the shots, killing two of the men.

Fought Desperately. The place in which the assassins had cought refuge from their pursuers was in a locality from which escape by retreating was not possible and the remaining two murderers determined to sell their lives as dearly as possible. They refused to heed the demands made them to surrender, and, undeterred by the fate of their comrades, they continued firing upon their would-be captors. Finally, they exhausted all their eartridges except two, one in each of their revolvers.
Blew Out Their Own Brains.

The attacking party, none of whom had been injured, surmised that the assassins' supply of ammunition had run out, and they made a rush to capture the two men. The latter saw them coming, and, preferring death to capture, they placed their revolvers to their heads and blew out their brains. The bodies were searched, and on each of them was found a red ticket on which was printed the words: "Executive Committee of the Polish Anarchists."

Great Indignation. Dr. Poninsky, without doubt, had by his utterances or actions incurred the enmity of the anarchists, and the four Neglect to Hold a Train Causes a Collision men were unquestionably appointed by the central anarchist body to murder him. The affair has caused the deepest indignation wherever the details are known, and the most strenuous efforts will be made to search out and punish the conspirators.

RAUM'S SENSATION.

He Says That Members of Congress Obtain

Fees for Securing Pension Statements. WASHINGTON, April 8 .- It was Gen. Raum's turn on Thursday to explode a sensation in the pension bureau investi-Gen. Raum, which was backed up by reports of special examiners and affidavits by a number of reputable citizens in Indiana, to the effect that the official name and office of Congressman Cooper of Indiana had been for many months and is now being used by pension agenta for the purpose of making money out of pension claimants.

The first intimation the department had that the office of congressman was being used as an instrument to assist pension agents and possibly turn to the songressman himself a few shekels same from John R. Whittinghill, at Crothersville. Ind., in September last. Whittinghill inclosed a letter from D. L. Rangan & Co., Kenton, O., proposing for three Rollars to furnish the status of Whitlingbill's pension case and show what was necessary to make it complete and get a copy of the report made by the board of surgeons before whom he was examined at North Vernon, Ind., on July 10, 1889.

The letter fell into the hands of Commissioner Raum, who, having suspected that such transactions were being practiced, wrote to Whittinghill and told him that if he would answer the Ohio letter and secure the information offered the fee charge would be paid by the commissioner of pensions. This was done, and when the information came it showed that the Ohio firm was cooperating with Congressman Cooper's private secretary. Samuel R. Hersey. This clew was placed in the hands of one of the special agents who went to Kenton, but found the agent, with Hersey, had flown. Copies of his letters were found, however, and together with the information reseived from Whittinghill an alliance was found to exist between Hersey and H. Clay Peet, of Columbus, Ind., whereby the name of Congrassman Cooper was being used to secure information at the pension office for which a fee was exacted and collected from pension elaimants. Peet is a relative of Mr. Cooper, and when the latter was postmaster at Columbus, just before his advent in congress, was Mr. Cooper's principal clerk.

Stepping into a doorway he awaited the approach of the strangers, who, from their awkward gait and rough appearance, Gilbert knew were from the mountains. As the men reached the doorway Gilbert, with drawn revolver, stepped in front of them and commanded them to halt. The strangers threw up their hands and came to a standstill. Gilbert failed to recognize the men until they introduced themselves. Miller said that he desired to surrender to the sheriff before the government detectives got hold of him. Miller said his companions were his brother, Levi Miller, and brother-in-law, George Chap-son. Gilbert marched the trio to the lockup and afterwards to the county jall. #### IMMENSE DAMAGE RESULTS

An Unprecedented Downpour of Rain in the South-Work of a Cyclone in Arkansas

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8 .- Serious damage to property and delay to railprecedented heavy rainstorms in Mississippi during the past few days. At Duck Hill, Miss., the rain has been the heaviest ever known. 1854 inches of water having fallen dur-ing the past two days Much damage to crops is reported. Carroll-ton is almost I clated from the surrounding country, and the circuit court, which is in session there, has adjourned owing to the inability of witnesses to reach the town, as numerous railway bridges have been washed out, making travel utterly impossible.

Bridges Swept Away. The Big Sandy river, which runs through the town, is higher than for ten years. An iron bridge costing $15,000 has been swept away, cutting off communication with the outside world except by means of boats. The Peluska creek bridge on the Georgia Pacific, near Carrollton, is gone, as also are those at Me-Anerary and Big Sandy. Near Big Sandy 800 yards of track is under water. The loss to Carrollton and vicinity from the destruction of bridges alone is estimated at $50,000.

Grenada Cut Off from the World. A special from Grenada says: After a week's rain the streams hereabouts are bank full. The Yallobusha river is higher than ever before. Numbers of families have been compelled to leave their homes. Southville, a little village 1 mile from Grenada, is almost submerged. Fifty bales of cotton are lodged against the Illinois Central track. The track just across the river from Grenada gave way Thursday morning and now the break is 300 feet wide and rapidly widening. Fifty car loads of bananas are side tracked here waiting for the water to fall. Another washout between here and Winona leaves Grenada entirely cut off The farming interests in this section are very badly damaged. Reports from other places in the state run in much the same manner, as the great rainfall has been general. So far no loss of life has been reported, although in some localities a few head of stock have been lost by drowning.

Several Negroes Drowned. A special from Columbus, Miss., says: One of the heaviest rains in years fell here Wednesday and Wednesday night. The Tombigbee is a big boom. It is 2 feet higher than was ever known before and is still rising at the rate of 6 inches an hour. The river rose very rapidly and several negroes were drowned before they could be have been lost by the rescued. The heaviest damage has been at Rome. The rivers are now 32 feet above the low water mark and still rising at the rate of 5 inches an hour. Heavy rains occurred Wednesday night above Rome in both the Oostanaula and Etowah rivers. This makes the situation alarming. It is feared that the result will be that Rome will have a flood greater than that in 1886, which was a disastrous one. The Fourth ward is already flooded and a great many houses in that locality are inundated. The rapid rise bodes the heaviest kind of damage to the town. At St. Louis.

Sr. Louis, April 8.-The river has risen to a point very near the danger line, and reports of floods are beginning to come in. There is but a small strip of the wharf along the city front left dry and teamsters are begin-ning to experience difficulty in handling freight.
